Regional CoP Meetings and Meetups

Last call before the hustle of field season calls for a pause!

Please click the below link to register and help plan how to grow your local community of practice:

- April 22: Skeena - Northwest \(online\)
- April 28: Omineca - Northcentral \(online\)
- April 29-30: Northeast \(in person\)

P.S. I could really use some help from local folks at the northeast event next week - please let me know how you can support: mae.whyte@sernbc.ca

P.P.S. We are still seeking regional organizers in the north-central and north-east regions > do you have a few hours a week you can spare?

Upcoming Webinars

Our webinar schedule is also starting to wind down in anticipation of spending more time outside. Register now for any of the remaining talks this spring and learn from other practitioners over your lunch break - all "lunch and learn" webinars have a 12:30 p.m. start time:

- Today: Introducing the Forest Ecosystem Simulator (ForES)
 - Kelsey Gritter and Eric Neilson, Canadian Forest Service
- May 12: Forest for the Trees: Thinning to Benefit Land, Community, and Ungulates
 - Doug Casimel, Toonasa Ne Keyah Stewardship Department Manager, Stellat'en First Nation
- May 19: Introducing the Ecosystem Services Gradient and its Applications (TBC)
 - Leah Sharpe, Decision Scientist, Gulf Ecosystem Measurement and Modeling Division, US EPA Office of Research and Development

Small-group Coaching

Back by popular demand, we hope you can join in and inspire your peers! This is the first in an online coaching session series as requested by multiple practitioners after their experiences at our 2024 and 2025 workshops.

We will work in small break out groups of six participants. Three people in each group will bring forward a real-world challenge they are facing in their restoration practice. Participants will all take turns sharing experiences that relate and offering perspectives that bring the challenge into focus.

There are lots of ways to get more involved with the CoP, facilitated by the organizing team:

- organize or join a subject matter working group
- organize or join a regional group - each of our three northern 'regions' has a group
- join the Organizing Team, either as an individual or on behalf of your organization
- share knowledge in a webinar, conference presentation, or hands-on workshop.

Just reach out, we'd love to hear from you!
